Waste Management:

'There'll be no changes'

by GLORIA DAVIS

"We own the land and are going to build a new landfill" and "We are not going out of business in Antioch," are quotes from Thomas Volini, representative of the legal department of Waste Management, Inc.

Those statements and another one made by Trygve Bakkum, vice-president of Waste Management, Inc., that there would be no change in the type or size of the landfill operation that has been in the same spot in Antioch for three decades, seemed to be the bottom lines at a press conference that Waste Management requested be held with representatives of Lakeland Newspapers.

The fact that its operation had run with few complaints until they came to the village proposing the annexation of an additional 60 acres, next to the present site in Antioch's industrial area, was stressed by the Waste Management representatives.

According to the world's largest disposal company, the purpose of the conference was so that the "Waste Management story could be told."

On Thursday, March 18, three representatives of the disposal company sat down with three representatives of Lakeland Newspapers for an informational and question and answer session.

Waste Management came armed with a stack of copies of newspaper stories on the proposed landfill site, complaining that none of them told the company's side of the story.

After giving a lot of scientific facts that they claimed the company's record would stand behind, a fact that has not been properly highlighted to date surfaced.

According to Waste Management, at the present time, the company is using approximately 36 of the 80 acres that constitute the present landfill site for disposal purposes.

The sight is almost full, following the eight year estimation made at the time it was annexed to the village in 1974.

Waste Management said that it intends to close that site within a year, covering it with dirt and planting it with grass and continuing to monitor it for any ground seepage or other danger signs that will in any way have an adverse effect on the surrounding area.

They said that the intention is to simply move to an adjacent site of 70 acres (10 of which are already in the village limits) and operate the same size landfill, approximately 36 acres, in the same way they have been operating the previous ones.

Approximately the same kinds and amounts of garbage will be dumped under the same operation, which they claim is the best in the business.

They expressed surprise at all the controversy created by their new proposal, saying that they had only come to the village because they wanted to be good neighbors, willing to let the committee to investigate the present landfill sight do their investigation because they had no worries, since Waste Management stands on its record as the biggest and the best in the business and has "some of the finest landfill sites in Illinois and the world."

Knolls Dance

All local residents can unwind from winter by attending the Oakwood Knolls Annual Spring Dinner Dance to be held April 3.

The dance will be held at the VFW Hall on North Ave. in Antioch.

The evening begins with cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and dinner promptly at 7:30 p.m. and for your dancing pleasure the music will be by the K-Ace (former Scotch Lads), from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

For tickets or further information contact Arlene Anderson, (312) 395-5966; Rose Ann Mazzur, (312) 395-7323; or Claudette Skvarce, (312) 395-6744.

Fields leads pack in district

Antioch Township Supervisor Jim Fields was the leading vote getter among a field of eight candidates for county board district four in the March 16 primary election.

Fields, seeking election to his second term on the county board, totaled 3,633 votes in the Republican primary followed by former county board chairman and Avon Township Supervisor Norm Geary with 3,542. Also nominated for re-election to the county board was Donna Mae Litwiler of Ingleside. Incumbent board member Joe Tobolik was defeated by Howard (Bud) Scott of Lake Villa.

Scott's total of 3,169 was good for the fourth spot on the Republican ticket in November. Tobolik had 2,576, followed by Lindenhurst Mayor Ted Flanagan with 1,848, Ray Edwards of Loon Lake with 2,311 and Evelyn Bolt of Lake Villa with 1,773. Tony Marsala was elected on the Democratic ticket with 755 votes.

In the Antioch Township precinct races, newcomer James Bucar tallied 162 votes in precinct 12 to defeat former mayor Mike Haley (46) and Leonard Kreusler (43). In precinct eight, Dennis Murphy won election with 109 votes, followed by Robert Mattson with 29 and Thomas Steiskal with 18.

In precinct nine on the Republican ballot, Charles Kempf totaled 156 votes to win the post, followed by Jan Steitz with 78 and Michael Malick with 27.

Finally, in precinct 14, James Olson defeated Ray Edwards, 122-39. The remainder of the GOP committeemen were unopposed. John W. Doyle, Frank ReCupido and Ronald Martini were unopposed Democrats.

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) won the GOP nomination unopposed while the 62nd house district race was one of the closest of the evening. In the end, Robert Churchill of Lake Villa, edged Ron Griesheimer of Wadsworth, 3,042 to 3,012.

Jim Olson of Antioch was third with 2,498 votes. There was no Democratic race in either the senate or house district.

Elsewhere in Lake County on the Republican ballot, Coroner Robert (Mickey) Babcox won the sheriff's nomination over incumbent Sheriff Tom Brown, 20,343 to 10,267. Joseph Glusic received 3,233 votes even

High-speed chase ends in 5 car crash

A high speed chase from the Wisconsin state line through downtown Antioch, ended with the speeding vehicle crashing into four cars parked on the east side of Main St.

Robert G. Braswell, 20, Round Lake Beach, was cited for fleeing and eluding an officer, reckless driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol by Antioch Police Officer Dennis Granfield.

Granfield took up the chase of the speeding car at 1:03 a.m., on Saturday, March 20, after Officer George Broeker clocked the vehicle on radar as traveling 69 miles per hour in a 30 mile an hour zone on Rte. 83, between the state line and North Ave.

The Braswell vehicle carried five passengers, all under 21. Three were from Round Lake Beach, one from Park City and one from Fox Lake.

No injuries were sustained at the scene of the crash.

1,000 sign anti-dump petitions

Antioch's Coalition Of Concerned Citizens (CCC) stated that its latest efforts to gather support against the proposed Antioch landfill expansion has reached over half of Antioch's adult population.

A recent petition campaign netted approximately 1,000 signatures of area residents who are opposing any dump expansion. A CCC spokesman stated that over 95 percent of the residents contacted stated their opposition to the proposed expansion by signing the petition.

CCC members have expressed their support of the village's efforts to measure the impact a dump expansion might have on drinking water quality.

PM&L's 'Doctor' orders laughs

Neil Simon's broad farce, "The Good Doctor," will open soon at the PM&L Theater, 877 Main Street in Antioch.

The opening performance will take place Saturday night, April 10. Following evening performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, April 16, 17, 23, and 24.

There will also be a matinee on Sunday afternoon, April 18. The curtain will rise at 8:30 p.m. for the evening performances and 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee.

"The Good Doctor" is basically a group of vignettes and sketches of everyday Russian life, many of them based on the delightfully bright stories of Anton Chekov.

Some of the sketches are uproariously funny, even bordering on the slapstick. Scenes such as "The Sneezes," "Surgery," "The Drowned Man," and "A Defenseless Creature" will keep audiences laughing long after the final curtain.

Lyn Kessie of Richmond directs the PM&L production of "The Good Doctor." This is the first show Lyn has directed, but she is well known to area theatergoers as a choreographer and actress.

Three newcomers to the Antioch stage are in her cast, Don Crop of Mundelein, who has performed in dinner theater at Andre's, and Mike Stanton and Marty Witt, both of Antioch, who are making their stage debuts in "The Good Doctor."

The company of performers also includes such PM&L oldtimers as Lillian Allen of Trevor; Ann Marie Cina, McHenry; Dawn Ferry, Gurnee; and George Blanksten of Antioch.

"The Good Doctor" already bears the signs of being another PM&L hit, likely to play to large houses. It is probably therefore a good idea to make your reservations early to enjoy this comedy.

To do so, call (312) 395-3055. Also, remember to be at the PM&L Theater by 8:15 p.m. on the night, or 2:15 p.m. on the afternoon to attend the show.

Cotillion tickets available

Dorothy Teister, chairman of the 1982 Cotillion has announced that tickets are now available for the Cotillion at all the Financial Institutions in Antioch and from Members of the Antioch Mental Health Assn.

Dolores Abderholden reported that tickets may be obtained by calling Jean Stanley at (312) 395-6648; Anne St. Pierre at (312) 395-2692; or "K" Costoff at (312) 395-1301.

Teister has said there will also be a patron list. Thelma Anderson, Alvera Morgan and Edna Barr are handling this important committee. Phyllis Bucar is publicity chairman. Annette Lubkeman is president of the Antioch Mental Health Assn.

The cotillion is to be held May 1 at the Abbey on Lake Geneva. Cocktails and dinner will be followed by dancing to the music of the Night Shift.

MUSEUM MEETING

The Lakes Region Historical Society will hold its next meeting at 7:30 p.m., on Thursday, April 29, at the State Bank of Antioch.

Fields leads though he had withdrawn from the race and endorsed Brown.

Harry Thomas received 27,851 votes for county clerk unopposed and Bill Thompson of Antioch received 28,942 votes unopposed for regional superintendent of schools. Treasurer Jack (Red) Anderson received 29,313 votes for county treasurer unopposed.

On the Democratic ticket, Donald Mason of Lake Villa outdistanced Tim Powell of Hainesville, 3,241 to 3,202 for the Democratic nomination for sheriff. Linda Hess of Highland Park defeated Richard Sullivan of Fox Lake for county clerk, 3,835 to 2,962. Nan Fairhurst was unopposed for treasurer and received 5,659 votes.

Countywide, the three referenda lowering the maximum tax rates for the property record card fund, the bridge fund and the maps fund were approved by substantial margins.

Lake County also followed state trends as Republicans Jim Thompson (governor), George Ryan (lieutenant governor) and John Dailey (treasurer) won election.

Township and precinct breakdowns were still not available at press time.

residents, drinking water contamination is most often voiced", stated a CCC member.

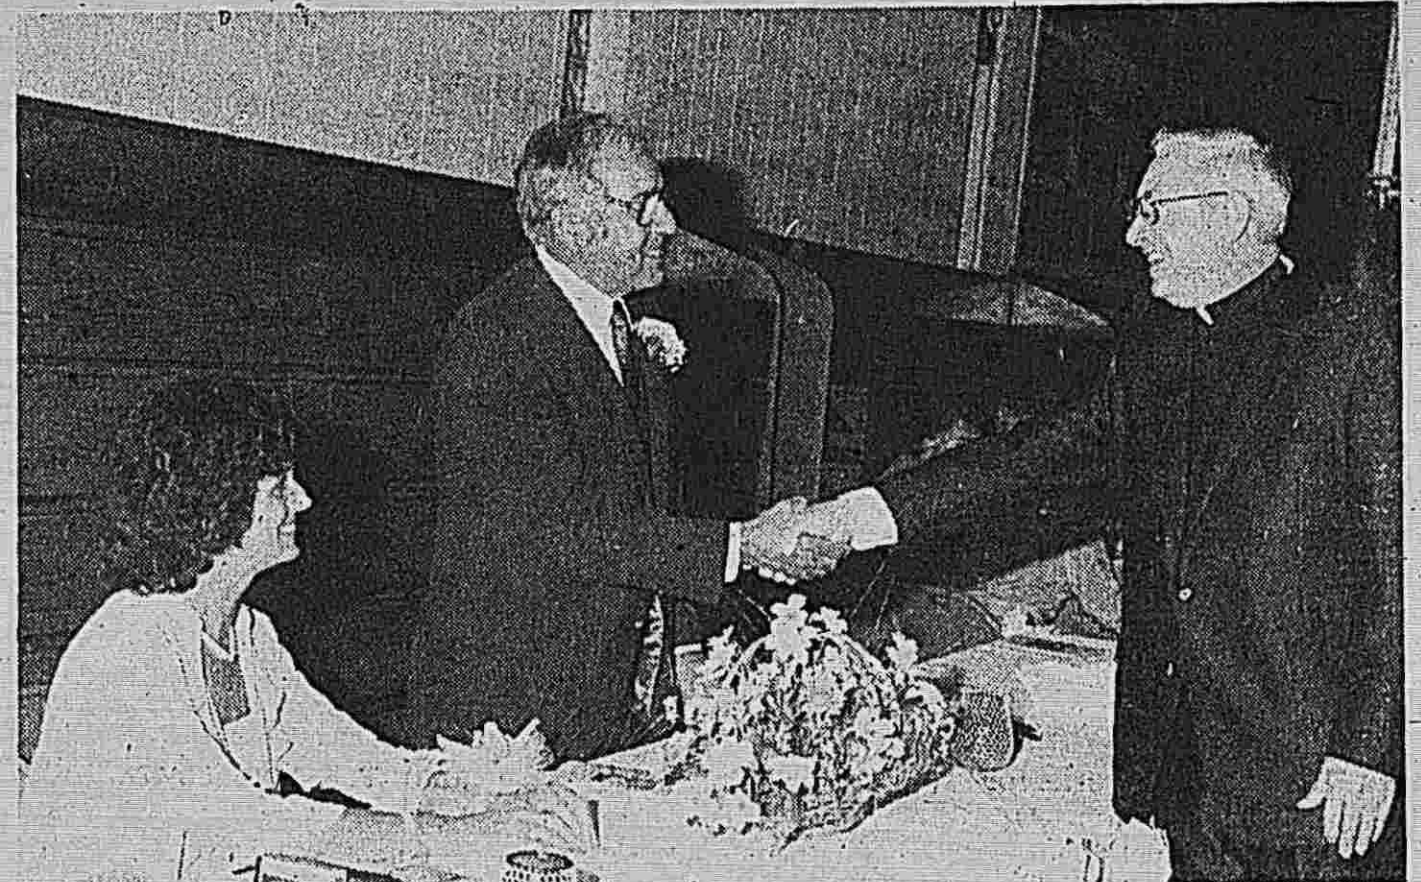

CCC expressed its concern over the land fill owners reluctance to allow village retained engineers access to the liquid waste that collects at the bottom of the dump.

The engineers explained that if anything did seep into village drinking water supplies, it would probably be this liquid waste.

Analysis should show whether or not the liquid contains possibly hazardous materials.

CCC members confirmed their devotion to preventing any expansion of the present land fill and are urging all area residents to voice their concerns in writing to village and county elected officials.

Local grocery shoppers left in retail limbo

With grocery shopping being an integral part of everyday life, there has been a cloud of uncertainty and a lot of interest surrounding the future of Antioch's food markets.

The A & P, located in the Antioch Shopping Plaza, has announced that it will close its doors for good as of Saturday, March 27, along with many other branches of the great Atlantic and Pacific chain, long an American grocery byword.

Another announcement that the Scot Lad chain would be taking over some of the A&Ps has been published by the New Jersey home office of the A&P, but to date there has been no confirmation that this is the future of the Antioch store.

The manager of Antioch's store, Chuck Lundy, said that he has absolutely no idea what's going to happen after March 27, all he knows is that the Antioch store, a long time landmark in the village, will be closed.

Efforts to gain information from the home office of the grocery corporation have proved fruitless as of press time.

Meanwhile, back at the deli counter, the Antioch News has had unconfirmed reports that Jewel Tea Co. intends to break ground for a new store in Antioch this spring.

Talk of a new Jewel in Antioch has been in the wind for years and although representatives of that firm confirm a future Jewel in Mc Henry, they said that they had no information on a new one locating in Antioch in the near future.

A check with the village hall showed that they have no records of this taking place and the possibility of the supermarket locating in the township is slight since a store of this type and size would need city water and sewers to operate.

There has also been reports that Drakes Super Valu, Paddock Lake, has been thinking of opening another store in Antioch.

Doug Drake, owner of that supermarket, says that the possibility has been looked into but such expansion does not seem feasible at the present time.

So leaving just two open food markets in the village, the next chapters in Antioch's food story are being anticipated with interest.

Waukegan Symphony to perform at ACHS

The Waukegan Symphony Orchestra under the director of Lynn Schornick, will bring their special "Young Artists' Concert" to the stage of Antioch High School at 8 p.m., Friday, March 26.

This is Maestro Schornick's first season with the Waukegan Symphony and already the audience size has increased over 30 percent. His choice of works for the 1981-82 season has brought music lovers back to the concert hall to hear their favorite works and some new ones.

Most recently from Texas where he was artistic director/conductor of the Austin Texas Opera Company and assistant conductor of the University of Texas Orchestra, Schornick is a native of Kansas.

He holds a bachelor and masters degree in music from the University of Kansas and is completing a doctor of musical arts degree at the University of Texas.

Some of Lake County's finest young musicians will perform with the orchestra. Lawrence Golan, a sophomore from Highland Park High School, Donna Hladish, a senior from Waukegan High School and Jeanette Ortiz, a seventh grade student at Lake Forest Country Day School are the winners of the Lake County Young Musicians Competition.

Tickets are $4 for a limited number of reserved seats and $2.50 for general admission.

This is a special event that Lake Countians should not miss. It is the first time the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra has performed outside Waukegan and the first time a symphony orchestra has ever visited Antioch.

Help the high school welcome the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra and our special young artists by filling every seat in the auditorium.

INSIGHT INTO EYESIGHT

Dr. R. A. Sona,

OPTOMETRIST

MYOPIA: SEEING THINGS CLOSE UP

Myopia is what your eye specialist calls it when an examination shows you can see things better close up than far away. But myopia is not an advantage. It's a vision problem. Your eyes focus on an object too soon.

If you're very nearsighted, you can't even hold a book at the normal distance for reading. You have to bring it closer to your eyes. And any distant object will be seen only as a blur.

If a child is nearsighted, the condition will probably get worse before he becomes an adult. Then it will probably stay the same for awhile. There's no guarantee that it won't need further correction. That's why regular checkups are important.

Our eyes change as we grow older. A condition like nearsightedness may improve; or it may get worse. If your glasses or contact lenses are not giving you clear vision, you can probably benefit from a change in prescription. If you haven't had your eyes checked lately, now is a good time to make an appointment.

by Robert T. Sven B.S.D.D.S. Ask Dr. Sven Oral Hygiene For Denture Wearers

Once people get their dentures they often think they don't have to pay much attention to their teeth any more. This isn't true.

Dentures, like natural teeth, tend to collect dirt. If you have a partial denture with clasps around the remaining natural teeth, this means that this dirt can be held tightly against your own teeth, causing decay. It is important to remove your partial denture after every meal and clean your own teeth AND the denture. There are special small round brushes made to clean inside the clasps. Your remaining teeth must be taken care of, or you may soon need a full denture.

Full dentures must also be cleaned carefully after meals. Even patients with full dentures should be checked by their dentist at least every two years, even if their mouths feel comfortable, to make sure the dentures fit properly.

When I think about it

How can I sign-up for 'Frustration Anonymous?'

by GLORIA DAVIS

Everyone knows the story about the early bird and the worm, well not that I've ever yearned to possess a worm, no matter how hard I try I'm just one of those people whose timing is always just a little bit off and no matter what my schedule is, I always end up with a whole can of the squiggly little things.

I had a day the other day not to be believed! I should have known the direction it was headed by the way it started out and if my name had been Irene Hughes I would have just rolled over when the alarm went off and spent the day in bed.

First I spent a half hour standing in the hallway admiring the pattern the cracks in the plaster were making while I waited to get into one of our two bathrooms that had been immediately impounded behind my back by the very members of my family I had just roused out of bed.

Things went steadily downhill from then on. At the end of my lunch hour I made a dash to the local discount store to make an emergency purchase, having an appointment in the boss' office at precisely 1 p.m.

Naturally I grabbed the one item on the shelf that had no price tag, a happening that necessitated calling for a price check. Why is it that the return trip taken by the clerk performing this simple feat is always detoured through Mexico?

In the afternoon I stopped to discuss a pressing financial problem with my "personal banker," who of course had just left for lunch -- at 3 p.m.

I then risked running several yellow lights to make it to my doctor's office on time for the appointment it had taken me three months to get and found myself abandoned for two hours and left to read through several exciting issues of last year's Gastro Intestinal Digest, not knowing that Dr. Kildare had left for the hospital by the rear door.

Then I hurried home just in time to be badgered by a hungry family.

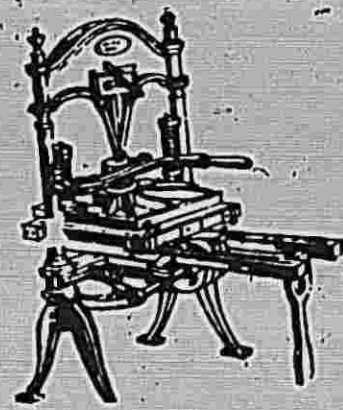

"I'm starving mom, when do we eat," and "How much longer Hon, I had a light lunch," plus "Gosh mom, do we have to eat so late all the time?" rang in my ears as I rushed around the kitchen like a madwoman.

What was my reward, where was all that starving humanity when I put the hot dinner on the diningroom table?

Now you know that even the setting-in of malnutrition in its final stages couldn't tear a teenager from the phone.

If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, tell me why the only way that I can get my "dinner's ready" message through to my better half is to coerce the local tv station into running it as an emergency bulletin during the sports round-up of the 6 o'clock news.

I don't remember enlisting, so please tell me why I suffer from this khaki-colored complex classified as "hurry up and wait?"

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: March 24, 1932

Antioch residents experienced the worst blizzard of the winter. Schools were closed for three days and cars were stalled all over the village streets.

The national Tea Food Store advertised bacon for 17 cents a pound and coffee, two pounds for 33 cents.

School costs much have been much lower then as the Antioch News ran a story on the return of $155 in class fees to individuals who were in attendance at night school classes at the Antioch High School, seven out of the ten classes scheduled.

The News ran an apology letter from Father Flaherty of St. Peters Church to the parishoners who were subjected to a political speech snuck in by a candidate during the St. Patrick's Day festivities at the church.

THIRTY YEARS AGO: March 20, 1952

Robert J. Wilton announced his candidacy for the newly created Lake County School Board.

The Antioch Varsity basketball squad went to the state basketball tourney down state—to watch from the bleachers.

Ten Antioch High School students had perfect grades for the first six weeks of the second semester.

The Methodist's Young Peoples group of the United Methodist Church began practice for their scheduled variety show.

More than 100 fishermen were ice fishing on the south end of Channel Lake on that Sunday.

TEN YEARS AGO: March 22, 1972

Elroy Anderson was installed president of the Antioch Republican Club at a dinner at Lorenz' Smart Country House.

The Antioch News ran an editorial on the cuts in the school budgets and the need for relief from the "taxes which threaten to make paupers of us all." (Is anything ever new?)

The kindergarten at the Channel Lake Grade School became proud parents of four baby gerbils on the first day of school this week.

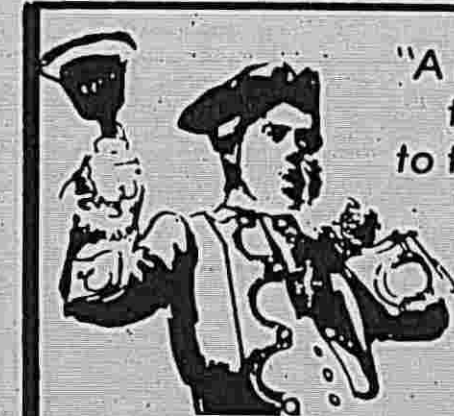

Lorenz's Smart Country House was still advertising broiled lobster tail for $5.50.

The first day of spring brought balmy breezy 60 degree weather.

The Illinois Beach Lodge on the shores of Lake Michigan celebrated its 10th birthday.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

I see that Tracy Sodman, former Antioch Sequoit, was seen on P.M. Magazine on Tuesday, March 9, playing with the Milwaukee School of Engineering basketball team as a background for an interview with "Magic" Johnson.

Looks like there is an Antioch resident who has received an award for his green-thumbed efforts. Earl Buse received first place awards for more than one entry in the recent Horti-Court plant competition held at the Chicago Botanic Garden.

Say Earl, old Annie Mae has this sick-looking Swedish ivy could I bring it over for a little out-patient treatment.

Keith La Chance has been elected chaplain of the Beta Pi chapter, a social fraternity at Monmouth College, Monmouth.

With all this controversy over the local landfill site, awhile back Mayor Ray Toft was heard to say, "Mike Bilandic had his snowplow, Mike Haley his full-time salary, I hope I don't get run over by a garbage truck."

Garnet Cook tells me that a new Antioch Police Assn. has been formed, being fully chartered as of the first of the year.

The purpose of the organization is to promote training within the police department and propagate better public relations with the community.

According to Cook they hope to make use of the now empty basement in the Old Fire Station by turning it into a physical fitness training room.

The association is looking for any kind of used exercise equipment to furnish the training room.

So far the association has been meeting every other month and has elected as the officers: President Ron Roth, Vice-president Bert Metz, Treasurer Patti White and Cook, secretary.

The membership includes all 16 members of the Antioch police Dept.

Congrats to Bill Bishoff, former Antioch merchant and past president of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry, who has just been elected to the position of president and chief executive officer and director of Sebrite Corp., a national financial marketing company, headquartered in Grand Rapids, Mich.

The Senior Center Spring Fund Raiser Saturday, May 22, from 4 p.m. will be open to the community.

The decision has not been made yet for the menu that day, but there will be a catered dinner and entertainment will be by the "Happy Wanderers".

Tickets can be obtained by contacting one of the members of the senior center or by calling Noreen at (312) 395-7120.

Seniors tickets, with membership will cost $5, adults, $5.50 and children, $3.50.

The St. Patrick's Day party was a success and enjoyed by the 90 or so persons present at the Antioch Senior Center.

Future Webelos Night is set for Wednesday, March 24, at 7 p.m. for dads and their sons who will be 10 years of age by next year.

The evenings activities and information will be at Emmons Grade School.

Scouting events — Pack 192 had quite a turnout Wednesday, March 17 for their Pinewood Derby.

The trophy for best design went to Francis Hannigan. The shape of the car was unique and the color being green in combination with shamrocks made the winner for the design trophy benefitting for the St. Patrick's Day Pinewood Derby.

First place trophy went to Danny Pappadakis; second place went to Jason Koehler; third place went to James Bruski; and fourth place alternate went to Steven Goetzleman.

The finals will be on April 25, where all boys who placed a first, second or third will go on to Round Lake and enter yet one more race.

Reminders: The Antioch Jaycees annual blood drive will be April 3, at the Evangelical Free Church. For more information, contact Chuck Spillner at (312) 395-6047.

An Easter Egg Hunt, will be held and sponsored by Antioch Jaycees, Antioch Parks and Recreation and the VFW on April 3. Contacting any of the organizations mentioned will help to obtain information.

Interested in joining aerobics classes? Pick up the phone and give Dee or Glenda a call at (312) 395-2160. (The Parks and Recreation office or stop in.)

Plan on attending monthly meetings to be held every last Thursday of the month starting April 29.

The Lakes Region Historical Society needs your help to obtain the goal of restoring the old grade school building as a landmark.

DeFosse undaunted despite write-in flop

Saying "a lot of weird stuff went on" but vowing to pursue the Democratic appointment to oppose Philip Crane in November, Dan DeFosse of Antioch said his campaign for congress has not slowed.

DeFosse officially collected 19 write-in votes in Lake County and 11 in McHenry County in an effort to garner 600 write-ins and be placed on the November ballot for the Democratic party.

DeFosse said that he knows that the support was there, but that most of the write-in ballots were thrown out at the precinct level because "the intent of the voter was not clear."

"I'm a little bit disgusted, but actively going after the party appointment," said DeFosse.

DeFosse explained that because there was both a representative from the 12th congressional district and a state central committeeman from the 12th congressional district on the ballot, it complicated the write-in process for those who wanted to support DeFosse.

Writing in Dan DeFosse for the 12th congressional district, was not clear enough in the eyes of the law. It did not differentiate between the central committee and U.S. representative positions. Therefore such a ballot would be thrown out. Only ballots that specified "representative in congress from the 12th district," were counted, said DeFosse.

DeFosse said that despite the fact that he tallied only 30 official write-ins, "we have a list of over 200 people who we personally know that voted for me," said DeFosse. "We know that (election) judges in the Fox Lake, Round Lake and Grayslake areas were telling voters to write the name on the white envelope which is incorrect," said DeFosse.

DeFosse said that the states attorneys offices involved won't look into the matter "because I'm not a bonafide candidate."

"One person in the states attorneys office told a voter that it's not the election judge's responsibility to explain to them how to cast a write-in ballot. They said it's the voter's problem. They have to be informed," said DeFosse.

DeFosse said that the primary proved to him that he does have the support and he will pursue the congressional seat in November against Crane.

"We know what we had out there," said DeFosse. "Between my family and the committeemen we had more than the 30 votes. A lot of people at Cherry (Cherry Electric, Waukegan, where DeFosse is employed), close to 100 of them, took time out to go and vote for me."

DeFosse said that most of the problems that caused write-in ballots to be thrown out were because of the way the law is written. "They're doing their best to eliminate write-ins," said the candidate.

DeFosse can now be placed on the ballot by a vote of the 12th district Democratic committee, with committeemen casting weighed votes according to Democratic votes in the precincts. The vote will be taken as soon as a meeting can be set up including candidates from the Lake, McHenry and Cook County portions of the 12th congressional district, according to DeFosse.

Church speaker to be Carlson

Donald A. Carlson, associate professor of New Testament at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, will be the featured speaker at the morning and evening services, March 28 and April 4, at the Antioch Evangelical Free Church (EFCA).

Dr. Carlson is a member of the Tyndale Fellowship of Biblical Research, the Society of Biblical Literature and the Evangelical Theological Society.

He is the author of five books, including "The Sermon on the Mount," "The King James Version Debate," and "Divine Sovereignty and Human Responsibility."

Prior to joining the faculty at Trinity, Dr. Carlson officiated as dean and instructor at the Northwest Baptist Theological Seminary, served as a pastor, and spent several years in a part-time itinerant ministry in various parts of Canada and Great Britain.

Dr. Carlson will be the first of successive guest speakers to fill the pulpit subsequent to the resignation of Vernon Olson.

Reverend Olson accepted the position of assistant district superintendent of the ERCA in charge of church planting in the Rocky Mountain District.

Associate Pastor Donald Erickson will be officiating as pastor until the senior pastoral position is filled.

Worship services continue at 8:30 and 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. and all programs will remain unchanged.

MOOSE AWARD — Receiving an award for 50 years service to the Antioch Moose Lodge is, left, Joe Parfitt, who is listening to Mayor Ray Toft's accolades.

50 years in Moose Parfitt gets Antioch key

Joseph C. Parfitt of Antioch was honored with a testimonial dinner held March 14, at the Antioch Moose Lodge. As a tribute for his 50 years of dedication to Masonry, Parfitt was awarded a plaque from Sequoit Lodge 827, as well as a plaque from Grand Lecturers of Illinois presented by Judge Lawrence G. Inglis.

Mayor Ray Toft presented Parfitt with the key to the Village of Antioch. The first one ever given out.

A delicious dinner was prepared by Earl "Scotty" Lowe, governor, and the lovely Ladies of the Moose. The meal was thoroughly enjoyed by some 167 guests. The sponsors for the evening were Parfitt's own lodge, Sequoit Lodge 827.

Parfitt was accompanied by his lovely wife, Hazel, who was quite taken aback with a presentation of her own, a birthday cake, and the entire audience joining in the birthday song.

This wonderful couple have enjoyed over 56 years of wedded bliss, which is a feat in itself, and it is fitting and proper that they be so honored.

Citizens of Antioch and surrounding communities joined together in making this a night the Parfitts will not soon forget.

Stanley W. Lech, worshipful master of Sequoit Lodge offers his extreme gratitude to all who participated in this beautiful tribute.

No change

was first, the site is not "downtown," it is near the industrial section and secondly, since the intent is that it be the same size and type operation as has been in effect for several years, having no previous effect on the economical growth of the commercial community, they could see none in the future.

Volini said, "I am confident when the report from the village consultants is in, if they have the same expertise as our own team of technicians has, they will not oppose the landfill expansion. I am not saying that they will advocate it."

He added, "The technical data given them proves to a level of scientific certainty that the landfill expansion will not harm the area environmentally, effect the real estate values or the wells or water supply."

Volini said that records based on sales show that real estate values in Little Silver Lake, the community nearest the present landfill site, had gone up 25 percent since the site's advocacy 1974.

In answer to the question of how Antioch residents would benefit from the new landfill proposal, Volini said, "Garbage has to be disposed of and the safest way is in the ground."

He said the closeness of the dump would be an economic benefit, keeping the local cost of disposing of garbage low.

He added that dealing with a company of Waste Management's good record was also a plus.

Volini capped the benefits by saying that if the village annexed the landfill site, the land would be given to the village inside of nine to 11 years, with the village having the choice of the form.

Proposals of a finished regional park, a simple grassy knoll or one-half recreation facilities and one-half industrial site or 100 percent industrial site would be made to the village.

Volini added that monitoring of the site as a safety measure would continue after the landfill site was closed.

Bakkum pointed out that Quaker Industries, in Antioch's industrial section, was built on a former landfill.

Bakkum emphasized that the land would be ideal for light industry such as is the bulk of the Antioch industrial community at present, adding that the closed landfill site, worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, could bring as many as 1,100 jobs to the area.

According to the legal representative of the disposal company, they had refused to open the lech ate for testing as requested by the investigation committee, because testing was unnecessary, they knew what was there, "bad stuff" that they likened to the contents of a septic tank which many people have in their own yards.

Volini emphasized that the important thing was that the waste was properly contained and that the cluster monitoring wells on the perimeter of the lech ate were watched carefully since they would show any seepage.

According to Bakkum, not one instance of any kind of pollution had ever been reported during Waste Management's operation of the landfill site in Antioch.

Volini added that there was a minimal smell occasionally until the deodorization process and a certain amount of noise made by the operation's machinery, but he minimized that too.

Both Volini and Bakkum denied the possibility that the landfill operation had any effect on the water level of Little Silver Lake, as had been previously charged.

Then, giving what may have been one of the main reasons for calling the press conference, Volini said that the investigation of the landfill committee had cost Waste Management valuable time, five months having already lapsed since Waste Management first came to the village and the disposal company had yet to start the legal process which takes 134 days before application can be made to the Environmental Protection Agency.

He reiterated that time was growing short, with the project originally slated to take a year.

Volini said, "We have no present intention of withdrawing our petition to the village," but the inference was that if the village didn't act soon, Waste Management would proceed with the legalities under the state statute requirements and there would be a landfill site with the village having no control over it and losing some of the benefits.

A point that all three men made several times was that their expert technicians had said that the site was 100 percent geologically perfect for a landfill site and "garbage should go next to garbage," instead of being spread all over an area.

One conclusion that could be drawn is, if the present landfill site's operation is found to be above reproach, since the new proposal is supposed to be a simple continuation of the same, Waste Management has a good case for its side, at least that is what the company hopes to convince the village of.
